The Hindustan Times reports that Indian cricketer Rishabh Pant made a "blockbuster appearance" at the Arun Jaitley Stadium in New Delhi to watch the Delhi Capitals take on the Gujarat Titans in an Indian Premier League (IPL) match. Pant, who is the captain of the Delhi Capitals team, has become known for his flamboyant style both on and off the field, and his appearance at the stadium caused a stir on social media.

According to the article, Pant arrived at the stadium wearing a bright yellow hoodie and matching sunglasses, and was greeted by a crowd of fans who were eager to take selfies with him. The article notes that Pant's appearance at the match was "unusual" given that he was not playing, and speculates that he may have been scouting out the competition ahead of his team's next match.

The article goes on to discuss Pant's recent success on the field, including his performance in the recent India vs. England series, in which he scored a century in the final test match. The article also notes that Pant has been named as one of the five Wisden Cricketers of the Year, an honor that is awarded to the best players of the previous English cricket season.

Overall, the article portrays Pant as a rising star in Indian cricket, and suggests that his appearance at the IPL match was yet another example of his growing popularity and influence in the sport
