It sounds like the Health Consultant application is a very useful and convenient tool for patients to access medical advice and treatment. By automating the process, patients no longer have to wait in line for appointments, physically visit doctors' offices, or carry around physical documents. Instead, they can easily access their medical information and interact with medical consultants from the comfort of their own homes.

The five modules of the application seem well-designed and cover all the necessary aspects of patient care, from registration and login to doctor details and prescription management. The admin module is particularly important as it allows authorized personnel to manage all patient and medical information.

Overall, the Health Consultant application seems like a great solution to improve access to medical care and make it more convenient for patients.
